LIEUT. HAGUE, U. S. N., AND HIS FAIR YOUNG BRIDE

Everybody knows who won the "War of Belmont Meadow" and apparently the victors thereof are least concerned about the problem of reparations. Was it the alluring dimple on the cheek of pretty Mrs. Hague that tempted her ministerial admirer to tickle her, or was he suddenly aflicted with an attack of Timothy Hay Fever.

8 HURT IN GAS TANK BLAST

Eight persons were injured, a garage was destroyed, with all the automobiles in it wrecked, and two houses damaged by fire when a tank on a Standard Oil truck exploded today at Cohasset Harbor.

The truck was hurled 300 feet by the force of the explosion. It was loading gas into the underground tank in front of the Cohasset Harbor Garage when the explosion occurred, from a cause not yet established:

The injured:

Robert Fealey of Beechwood; burned about hands and head; treated by Dr. F. Sweeney of Hull.

William Burke, chauffeur for L. D. Willcutt of Boston; blown through window; bruised and scorched.

Charles Williams, Cohasset Electric Light Company; cut about head.

Charles Arnold, Sawyer street, Cohasset; leg hurt.

Frank J. Antone, Southbridge street, Cohasset, connected with hook and ladder company; blown from second floor runway to ground.

Captain John Grassie, hook and ladder company; blown from second floor to ground.

Joe Zaline, Spring street, Cohasset; bruises and burns.

William Brennock, fireman, of Main street, Cohasset; badly burned; vest burned off. Treated by Dr. Edward Schott.

WOMAN DRINKS IODINE TO ESCAPE 'CAPE COD'

"I must end my life! I can live no longer!"

Two-scores of guests in the lobby of the Hotel Essex turned to see pretty Mrs. Betty Lumbert, twenty-four years old, of Falmouth, shout these words, drink the contents of a bottle of iodine, and fall writhing to the floor, her three-year-old son, Victor, in her arms.

DRIVEN TO ACTION.

Mrs. Lumbert, a Jewess, declared she was driven to attempt suicide by the people of Falmouth, because she had married a Christian, and by quarrels with her husband.

At the Haymarket Square Relief Hospital Mrs. Lumbert told her story. She said:

"The people of Falmouth drove me to it.

"I am a Jewess. I married a Christian. I have been married four years. Those Cape Codders hate a Jew. They hated me. I have never made any trouble for them. I minded my own business.

"I am not blaming my husband but I blame them. I will never go back to my husband and above all things I will never go back to Falmouth.

"I am twenty-four years old. I married Mr. Lumbert when I was

N. Y. STOCK TRADER A SUICIDE; HAD BUSINESS TROUBLES

Orange, N. J., July 12.—Kenneth M. Eyland, a member of the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange, committed suicide at the home of his sister here today, by shooting himself through the head.

Miss Serna Eyland, the sister, told the police Eyland had been despondent because of business troubles. Eyland's two children, Kenneth M., Jr., and Marga, were asleep in the house when their father took his life.

New York, July 12.—Kenneth M. Eyland was a floor trader on the Consolidated Exchange and was one of the older members, having been admitted October 15, 1904. He handled No Customers' accounts.

His accounts with the Exchange and the Clearing House are in good condition, officials said.

JUDGE SITS FOR 15 HOURS; ONE-WAY TRAFFIC IN COURT

Detroit, June 12.—Harry B. Keidan of Municipal Court qualified today as champion long distance trial judge of Michigan and perhaps of America. He sat continuously for fifteen hours.

The corridors outside the court room and the court room itself were jammed with men and women waiting for their cases. So dense was the crowd that a system of one-way traffic was put into effect.

An average of less than a minute and a half for each case was maintained. Judge Keidan sent several auto speeders to jail without the option of a fine. Two men were given ten-day jail sentences, while three others were sent to jail for five days and fined $100 each.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Hope for an early agreement of miners and operators, in joint committee conference here, is practically abandoned. So far the vital points in dispute, demand for union recognition and 20 per cent. wage increase, have not been touched.

Boston American Expert Picks the Argentine Wonder to Beat Jess Willard

New York, July 12.—Luis Firpo will win the battle of the giants at Boyle's Thirty Acres tonight. Jess Willard's hope of fighting his way back to a bout with Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship will be crushed while more than 90,000 persons look on in wonder.

Fear-po (you don't pronounce it Fur-po) will prove to the world he is the most dangerous challenger for Dempsey. His mighty fists will bat

BOYS BLAMED FOR RAILWAY ACCIDENT

Chicopee, Mass., July 12.—Warrants were sworn out today by Boston & Maine Railroad detectives for seven local boys, blamed for a peculiar accident caused by a piece of steel plate placed on the track in front of a passenger train. The locomotive wheels apparently passed over the obstruction, but those of the tender flipped the steel from the track and it severed the airbrake hose, bringing the train to a quick stop. The detectives say that the boys have previously placed smaller obstructions on the tracks.

PLIGHT OF PAPPAS FATAL

Aged Woman Dies of Grief in Greece as Condemned Man Nears the Electric Chair

By JO SWERLING.

Paul Pappas, alias Descalakis, sits today in the death cell at Charlestown State Prison, the most pitiful figure that ever occupied that grim ante-chamber of doom.

And pity comes to him in overflowing measure—from the warden, from the death guard, from his fellow prisoners. The pity is not for his fate, but for his bereavement.

Wistfully awaiting a last message of hope, there came to him instead a message of sorrow—news of such sad portent that there is no longer the slightest vestige of fear in the heart of the young Greek toward the ordeal of the electric chair. In his heart there is no room for such a cowardly impulse as fear.

His brother, Gregoris Descalakis of Springfield, came to Paul and told

Philadelphia, July 12.—Improvement in the condition of Umpire Quigley, injured while officiating behind the plate in the first game of a doubleheader between Philadelphia and Cincinnati, was reported today. He was knocked unconscious by a foul ball from the bat of James Caveney, Cincinnati short-stop.

The blow raised a big lump on the left side of the veteran umpire's head. Physicians said Quigley would be back in the game within two weeks.

SUSPECT RELEASED IN SCOW DEATH

The mystery surrounding the death of Robinson Wood, twenty-two, whose body was found buried under fourteen feet of refuse in the hold of a Coleman Disposal Company scow, deepened today when the police released John Doyle, held for some hours as a suspicious person.

Doyle, a son of Mrs. Mary Doyle, a contractor of School street, Jamaica Plain, was arrested by Sergeant Michael Sullivan of City Hall avenue station, in connection with the death.

Doyle was the last person to see the dead man alive when both were engaged in loading the scow at Oliver street wharf.

"BOBBY" JONES IN SALLY FOR NATIONAL GOLF HONOR

Inwood, July 12 (A.P.).—Robert T. "Bobby" Jones of Atlanta, whose golf has been reaching closer and closer to the top with the passing tournaments, launches another sally for national title honors today in the fourth and final qualifying field for the 1923 open championship.

Last year at Skokie he shared second honors with the veteran professional John Black, with a card of 289, one stroke behind Gene Sarazen's winning 288. Bob Cruikshank of the Shackamaxon Club at Westfield, N. J., was drawn at Jones' partner for the round today.

Helena, Mont., July 12.—The First State Bank of Joplin, affiliated with the Stanton Trust and Savings Bank of Great Falls, which closed Monday, has closed its doors also. The Joplin bank has deposits of about $40,000 and is capitalized at $20,000. This makes three banks to go under.

Churches Split, However, as Result of Rev. Mr. Paine's Belmont Meadow Lark

Mrs. George Lyman Paine, wife of the "kissing parson," is loyal to her husband.

The fact that the Rev. Mr. Paine stole a "tiny peck of a kiss" from the bride of Lieutenant W. M. Hague, U. S. N., and received a two-fisted beating as a result, has not affected the marital happiness of the Paines.

Mr. Paine said today: "My wife knows all about this unfortunate affair and she has written me a letter assuring me of her sympathy and understanding. She believes in me and is standing by me. She has told me she will support me through it all."

Mrs. Paine is Summering in Maine.

Mr. Paine spent a large part of the day following the beating in getting in touch with his wife to break the news to her. Today he said:

"Any rumor intimating that there is anything but harmony between my wife and I are false."

The "tiny peck of a kiss" that Paine took from Mrs. Hague has split the Greater Boston Federation of Churches.

Paris, July 12.—The French Senate ratified the Washington Naval Treaty by a vote of 287 to 3 and unanimously ratified the "Five Power" Pacific pact.

Today the governing board of the federation stands half against the kissing preacher and half for him.

While the Rev. Mr. Paine has resigned from the secretaryship of the federation his resignation has not been accepted.

It will not be acted upon until the full board of governors get together a week hence. At a long and closely guarded meeting last Wednesday at the City Club the preacher who was badly battered by [illegible] Hague's fighting naval husband tendered his resignation.

It was understood it would be refused and a vote of confidence tendered the man [illegible] with a smear of [illegible]. But it developed that half of those present were strongly opposed to lending their moral support to a preacher who had proved himself [illegible]. When than a deadlock developed. As only fourteen of the nineteen members of the board were present it was decided to lay the matter over till the next meeting of the full board.

Will Preach Sunday

In the meanwhile the Rev. Mr. Paine, descendant of a signer of the Declaration of Independence and holder of two degrees at Harvard, will continue as secretary and undoubtedly on Sunday next preach at Trinity Church in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Sherrill, the rector, who is vacationing.

Wednesday's meeting was held in Room V on the tenth floor of the City Club. Arrangements had been completed by Mr. Paine himself. The minister, whose full confession brought a storm of criticism about his head, appeared at the meeting, remaining only to hand his written resignation.

Newspapermen gathered in a nearby room to await the outcome of the conference were outwitted by the Rev. Mr. Paine, who left the conference room and made his way from the club building by a rear stairway.

Board's Statement

At 5:30 the following statement was issued by the board:

"Representatives of the board of directors of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches were called in conference today by the Rev. George L. Paine, executive secretary. The following communication was read before the meeting:

"6 Beacon street, Boston,
"July 11, 1923.

To the Board of Directors of The Greater Boston Federation of Churches.

"Gentlemen and Brethren—My chief desire is to help the Greater Boston Federation at this time and feeling that it, and not I, should determine my fitness to continue in office, I herewith tender my resignation as executive secretary. I want it understood that the tender on my part in no wise expresses my own judgment in the matter, but is solely to free the hand of the Directors of the Federation.

"GEORGE L. PAINE."

It was the sense of that portion of the board present that action on this communication should be taken by a meeting of the whole board duly called for the purpose.

"Those present greatly deplore the conduct frankly and publicly acknowledged by Mr. Paine. In view of his splendid record of life service and unimpeached probity they bespeak for him the Christian consideration of the public."

The statement was not signed and no information could be obtained as to the identity of those present, with the exception of the Rev. Mr. Paine, Rev. Mr. Guthrie and Director Parker.

At the conclusion of the meeting a majority of the directors avoided questioning of reporters by seeking the street floor of the City Club building by the rear stairway.

Opinion was voiced by prominent laymen that the decision of the fourteen directors in postponing action on Mr. Paine's resignation presages refusal of the body to accept it.

Fine Gentleman

"We have been in session for many hours. It was of paramount importance that we discuss fully all sides of the matter before we took action. It is a serious affair involving a man's reputation and future. We must not act in haste. Mr. Paine is a fine gentleman."

That was the statement of the Rev. Ernest C. Guthrie, president of the Federation, after the meeting.

Lieutenant Hague, who thrashed the Rev. Mr. Paine in "defence of his wife's honor," likewise issued a statement through his attorney, George H. Hudson, of the Kimball building.

The statement:

"I have been prevailed upon by my friend and counsel, George H. Hudson, to make a final statement to the public so that my position may be unequivocal.

"My attitude in Mr. Paine's office was the direct result of his repeated attempts to kiss my wife in spite of her protests and active opposition which constitute an insult no man in honor could overlook. I have absolutely no excuse to offer for my actions in his office and the suggestion that I apologize to him is absolutely absurd.

Will Not Apologize

"I have no intention of apologizing as suggested in the postscript of his apology to my wife, and Mrs. Hague of course has no intention of doing so. I consider that I did what any man would do who found himself in a similar predicament. My only thought at any time has been to uphold my wife's honor and this episode has simply endeared her more to me. I consistently refrained from talking to newspaper men relative to the matter until I was assured that the Rev. Mr. Paine had talked at length about his actions, and then, in defence of my wife's honor I told my side of the story.

"The terrible and enduring wrong that Mr. Paine has done us is in the shattering of Mrs. Hague's ideals of the minister, who baptized her and united us in holy matrimony. This is irreparable.

No Civil Action

"Money damages cannot reconstruct those ideals, hence neither Mrs. Hague nor I contemplate civil action against Dr. Paine; and for fear that the public may think I have mercenary motives in this matter, I wish to have it understood that I have received as much satisfaction as I desire and the fact that the Rev. Mr. Paine has received such publicity in my opinion has punished him more than any court action that I might take.

"I have been asked to divulge the contents of letters from the people in this vicinity who have been kind enough to write me during the past few days. These are personal letters which I cannot give to the press without the consent of the writers. I feel that my wife's honor has been completely vindicated by Mr. Paine's own statements and I feel that anyone who may read them would reach that conclusion.

Hague's Statement

"This is my final statement in the case. Regardless of what anyone may say, the public knows the story and nothing could be gained by further comment on my part. We sail from New York the latter part of this week for the West Coast, where I was detailed prior to this incident. During the Sunday voyage, we will do our best to forget the affair and neither Mrs. Hague nor I have any personal interest in the action of the diocesan authorities or the Federation of Churches. We trust the public will deal as leniently as possible with this erring gentleman."

"BLACK OXEN is melodrama, but it is extraordinarily good melodrama. Starting with an ingenious idea for a thought, it brings to the development of the situation a wealth of color in characterization and shrewd invention of local episodes which effectively keep the reader engrossed. The book is vivid and a highly successful example of the kind of fiction sure to attract popular attention."

No Collar—Dear, Dear Big Men—Big Fight Fleas, Pets, Cancer No Commission—A Man

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1923, by Star Company)

MAGNUS JOHNSON, candidate for the Senate on the Farmer ticket in Minnesota, actually addresses crowds of farmers in his shirt sleeves, wearing no collar.

This shocks respectable newspapers of the Wall Street type, and well it may. A Senator WITH NO COLLAR seems dangerous.

On the other hand, some Senators wear collars of a brand not too popular with farmers. You may see Magnus Johnson in the United States Senate.

UNFORTUNATELY for those that see "everything is for the best in the best possible of worlds," and think that the farmer should be thankful that he is alive, wheat yesterday dropped below a dollar a bushel, and flour sold at $6—lowest price in eight years. That means more votes for Magnus Johnson.

ANOTHER "BIG FIGHT," tonight. Firpo, of Argentina, weight 215 pounds, will fight Willard, American, weight 238 pounds. To pull such men apart when they clinch, a heavy man is necessary. Henry Lewis, weight 195 pounds, is referee. The three men weigh 648 pounds. That should satisfy those that like a "big fight."

In spite of Willard's age, at least forty, betting is at even on him, according to the learned Damon Runyon. Patriotic bettors say that Firpo, NOT a glorious citizen of the United States, can't be expected to have much courage. That upholds the betting against Firpo's youth.

BUT THE GOOD OLD British theory that all Frenchmen are "frogeaters" and therefore not courageous is mistaken.

A little Filipino took the world's championship in his class from an Englishman the other day. Japanese Matsuda Sorakichi was the best wrestler for his weight ever seen in this or any other country. Those that have seen the Gauchos of the Argentine, strong enough to knock a horse off his feet and nimble enough to jump over him, would tell you to be careful how you bet against the Argentinian, Firpo. All good patriots, however, will hope that Willard will win.

LATE NEWS about cancer may do much good, if it turns out to be true.

The scientific world has been puzzled by the spread and origin of cancer, rapidly taking first place among the diseases that kill human beings.

Now, Dr. Bazvin, a serious French scientist, declares that fleas, jumping from dogs and cats transmit the cancer germs to human beings.

IT HAS BEEN LONG known that children's diseases are spread by dogs and cats, cats especially. As long as cats are children's playthings, say the doctors, it will be impossible to wipe out diphtheria, scarlet fever and other child diseases.

That has not had much effect on those that admire and cherish dogs and cats.

But cancer is a horrible disease. It kills with slow torture, practically hopeless when beyond the reach of surgery, and it kills adults.

If men and women believe that the dear pet may be carrying fleas, perhaps borrowed from other dogs and cats, and ready to transmit cancer, the pet will seem less desirable, and common sense will gain.

ENGLAND WILL ASK France to settle Germany's dilemma and debts by appointing a commission. What is needed is one man.

When France and England were wondering how they could beat Germany at a most desperate moment, there was no talk of a commission. They selected one man, Marshal Foch, saying, "Go ahead and do it." He did it. That's what is needed now, but unfortunately the one man isn't visible. Lloyd George could have been the man, but England let him go.

HARDING TAKES KINDNESS VOW TO ANIMALS

Aboard U. S. S. Henderson with President Harding, July 12. (A.P.)—President Harding has bound himself never to mistreat either a dog or a horse.

The obligation to be kind to these animals was part of an oath taken by the President at Skagway, when he became a member of the Arctic Brotherhood. He confided the oath in part to Mrs. Harding today who informed members of the Presidential party. The Brotherhood was organized in 1893 by gold prospectors.

The President today was on the open waters of the Pacific, en route to Seward.

The Chief Executive told the people of Skagway in a brief address that he was becoming philosophical as he travelled.

"We may wonder," he said, "what is the greatest end of life. Men make their plans and try to adhere to them. Skagway was developed in a rush of men seeking to acquire something of material value."

N. H. TEACHER FINED FOR FLOGGING PUPIL

Franklin, N. H., July 12.—A fine of $10 and $30.34 costs was imposed by Judge Clifford of the Franklin Municipal Court on Neil Norting, the East Andover teacher who flogged a scholar with a rubber hose pipe. He appealed to the Merrimack County Superior Court. Members of the Andover Board of Education furnished sureties for him. Norting says he intends to fight the case to a finish and the school authorities are supporting him.

His aged wife believes he wandered off to his death.

Follies Girl Retains Right to Wed

SIDESTEPS ANTI-LOVE CONTRACT

Mary Eaton Doesn't Want to Go Through Experience of Marilyn Miller

Now comes another Follies girl who balks at a contract barring love from her life.

Like Marilyn Miller Pickford, pretty Mary Eaton has refused to give up marriage, even though that may interfere seriously with Flo Ziegfeld's theatrical schemings.

Announcement that she would be starred in a forthcoming Ziegfeld production led to the circulation of a story that she had signed a contract in which it was stipulated that she must not marry for a certain period.

SEEKING HER IDEAL.

"I didn't sign any such thing," said Mary. "I have no intention of marrying now, either, but I have an ideal. I might meet that ideal some day. When I do I don't want to be tied up by a contract that would forbid my marriage."

Mary's stand recalls the turbulent scenes that ensued between the fair Marilyn and the creator of the Follies on the occasion of her announcement of her plans to marry Jack Pickford, film star and husband of the late Olive Thomas, movie queen.

Flo just said that Marilyn mustn't and shouted about terms of contract and all that. Marilyn, it will be recalled, just shrugged her shoulder, or something like that, went ahead and married, and after much argument with her boss returned to the "Sally" show.

LIKES 'EM UNMARRIED.

Ziegfeld seeks to keep his stars single. He figures that married life diverts their attention from the theatre. For this reason he has, in the past, signed several contracts in which he inserted a clause prohibiting marriage.

As a result, when a star signs with him Broadway immediately gossips.

LIBRARY DISPLAYS REYNOLDS EXHIBIT

During the next two weeks there will be on view in the Exhibition Room of the Central Library, Copley Square, a special exhibition of prints, photographs and books in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the great English portrait painter, Sir Joshua Reynolds, born July 16, 1723. The exhibition includes color and other prints of Sir Joshua's work.

STATE ROW STIRRED UP BY WASON

Refuses Pay Boost and Denounces Other Members of Cox's Commission

President George B. Wason of the Liberty Trust Company has plunged the members of the Metropolitan District Commission into a serious internal row because of his refusal to accept a $1,500 salary increase from the State.

The details of the row that again threatens to disrupt the important commission, which has been battling on the inside for at least two years, became known today.

Wason is one of the five prominent citizens who are members of the commission, appointed by Governor Cox and his predecessors.

James A. Bailey, the chairman, is paid $6,500 a year and devotes all his time to the work. The others are William H. Squire, prominent member of the Allston-Brighton Republican Club; Frand A. Bayrd, publisher of a daily newspaper in Malden, and Frank G. Hall, manager of the Adams House.

RECEIVE $1,000 A YEAR.

Wason and the other associate members, who attend weekly meetings, are paid $1,000 a year. The last Legislature passed a bill authorizing the Governor's Council to increase their State salaries to $2,500. Governor Cox allowed it to become a law without his signature and now Wason has aroused Squire, Bayrd and Hall by sending a letter to members of the council protesting against granting either him or them any increase.

Wason, Bayrd and Hall, at least, are known to be independently well-off in worldly goods. Wason says Bayrd, Hall and Squire are anxious for the council to give them the pay boost.

"I am dead set against it," said Wason. "I do very little work for the $1,000 the State pays me. I consider I am very well paid. I have other income, which the State position does not interfere with, and I reason that I owe a duty to the State to render some service to it. These other commissioners do no more work than I do.

OWE SERVICE TO STATE.

"The late Police Commissioner Curtis and Colonel Everett Benton, who is very much alive, served as commissioners for only $600 a year when the commission was doing the greatest amount of constructive work. They felt that they owed their service to the public.

"These other commissioners and their friends will be unable to raise the argument that my stand would permit only rich men to serve on such commissions because any workingman, accepting $1,000 a year for meeting about once a week, would be receiving more than enough to compensate him for his loss of work in his regular position."

Because of the row provoked by Wason's determined stand against a pay increase, the council has delayed action in the matter.

CABLE BRIEFS

Brussels.—With the mercury at 89 to 94 during the last six days, 120 cases of sunstroke and heat prostration have been treated here. Several railroad accidents have occurred, due to expansion of rails.

Brussels.—The Minister of War has decided to retain the classes of 1921 and 1922 under the colors, to maintain the present number of Belgian forces in the Ruhr. These troops total 19,500.

Saragossa, Spain—Sixty houses in St. Jean and several dwellings in the suburbs of Saragossa have been demolished by flood.

Berlin—Lightning is now striking more people in Germany than ever before. Experts are uncertain whether it is due to the greater electrification of modern industry and traffic or to heavier smoke clouds over industrial cities.

CAPE COD FOLKS DRIVE JEWESS TO POISON

MRS. BETTY LUMBERT

Jewess, wife of Christian, who drank iodine in hotel lobby, declaring that the Cape Cod folks in Falmouth where she lived hated her. This picture of Mrs. Lumbert was taken at the Haymarket Relief Hospital whither she was rushed after her attempt at suicide.

WIFE TRIES TO DIE BY POISON IN HOTEL

twenty years old. We were married in Cambridge after a six months' courtship. We went to Falmouth, which is his home, to live. At first things were pretty good, but when they discovered that a proud Falmouth native son had married a Jew, life for me after that was hell on earth.

"They would speak to my husband, and then they would say to me: 'The idea of one of our most respected Falmouth boys marrying a Jew. You never will have anything from our people here.'

BOUGHT POISON.

"I made up my mind this morning that I could not stand it any longer. I dressed Richard, my three-year-old son. He is the only person in the world I love.

"I bought some poison. I boarded the train at Falmouth and several times on the trip up from the Cape to Boston I wanted to die in the train, but I could not get courage up until I reached Boston.

"I went to the Essex hotel. In the lobby I lifted the bottle to my lips and drank some of the contents. I tried to drink more. But something seemed to tell me—these words:—'For God's sake don't die,—for little Richard's sake.' Richard you know is my darling boy."

"I left a note to my husband on the dining room table before I left for Boston. I addressed it as follows:

"Dearest, I am leaving home, There is no hope for me. I cannot stand this married life of ours any longer. I am going away to die, I am taking Richard. When you get this note I will be dead. Don't look for me, as it will be useless. I did everything I could to help you, but what did I get. Nothing.'

"I did not sign the note, but my husband, of course, knew who it was from.

"I have disgraced my family. I will not go back. I will not live with my husband. I'd scrub floors. I'd do anything. I won't be dependent on anyone."

Mrs. Lumbert will recover. She is the daughter of Samuel Eisner, No. 42 Johnson road, Dorchester.

Sergent was lured into the mountains from his home and killed with a coal pick.

Pet Battery Burro Buried With Full Military Honors

San Antonio, Tex., July 12.—Raggedy Ann, pet Burro of Battery F of the 12th Field Artillery, Fort Sam Houston, was buried with full military honors.

Verdun, her lover, who was born amid shell fire in a trench in France, followed the hearse with pack saddle reversed in true military style. He was followed by the men of the battery.

Verdun stood with head lowered as light field guns fired a salute, taps was blown, and artillerymen placed a wreath of alfalfa on Raggedy Ann's grave.

Paris, July 12, (A.P.)—The Chamber of Deputies today voted a loan of 300,000,000 francs, ($57,900,000) to Jugo-Slavia. The vote in favor of granting the loan was 498 to 64.

HEIRESS TO TRY FILM CAREER

Court Orders Sale of Property to Permit Her Adventure in Movies

Newark, N. J., July 12.—Immediately after obtaining a court order permitting the use of her inheritance for the purpose, Helen M. Andrus, of East Orange, eighteen, beautiful and an orphan, started for Hollywood to seek screen fame.

Miss Andrus inherited considerable wealth after the death of her mother in March. It was in the form of a trust fund. She cannot touch the principal until she is 21.

Vice-Chancellor John Backes directed Mrs. Margaret F. Sayre, aunt and guardian of the girl with whom she lived, to sell certain real estate to provide funds for Miss Andrus' venture. She is to receive $200 for the trip and an allowance until she is 21—unless she becomes successful earlier and doesn't need it.

MINISTERS OPPOSE CUSTOM OF KISSING BRIDES

AUTHORITY FOR OSCULATIONS NOT IN RITUAL, THEY SAY

Various men of the ministry maintain that many of their brothers kiss too promiscuously, especially when the bride is pretty and attractive.

Says the Rev. Harold L. Stratton of the Park Avenue Congregational Church, Arlington Heights:

"As far as I know there isn't any custom which compels a minister to kiss the woman he is marrying to a man. Of course there is quite a bit of it done at wedding ceremonies, but it is not official. If the minister desires to kiss the bride he does it of his own accord. I know I never kiss at ceremonies, but then I don't know anything about Episcopal clergy."

Speaking of kissing ministers, Rev. D. M. Lockrow of Tremont Temple had this to say:

"For some time I have thought that kissing should be abolished even at baptisms. And I believe the same ought to be done away with at wedding ceremonies. Of course, there may not be any harm at either of these particular occasions but it is the influence it has upon future occasions that makes it so harmful. It leads to an indiscriminate handling of the matter later on.

Old-Fashioned Custom

"Some people find fault with the minister who omits the conventional kiss at the marriage. And so he is very often obliged to conform to an old-fashioned and enslaving custom. Ministers are often at the mercy of deceptive fantasy with their congregation and must carry out the old custom. There is nothing or nobody so easy to criticise as a minister.

"Altogether this is a new age for ministers and I believe it would be a progressive move to abandon all osculation upon any official function. A wide berth should be given to kissing of any type, even the holy kiss prescribed in the scripture."

A member of the Episcopal City Mission at No. 1 Joy street, emphatically denounced the practice as unbefitting a member of the diocese. When asked by the reporter "Is it considered customary in the Episcopal Church for the minister to kiss the bride," he jocosely answered:

"I guess you're not married or you would know. A kissing minister may be an arbitrator between the young couple, but if I was the husband of the bride, the clergyman would control himself."

Lacks Ritual Sanction

At this clergyman's advice, the writer procured a Common Prayer Book and read the marriage ceremony and as he said, nothing about osculation in any form was mentioned.

That a kissing minister is a thing unknown among the Jewish people is voiced by Rabbi Joseph M. Jacobson of Intervale street, Roxbury.

"If a rabbi kisses the wife of another he is subject to thirty-nine strokes of a horse whip, a custom which had its foundation 800 years ago and is still very much in common use. Such a custom is known as 'malkos.' Kissing is one of the three eternal forbiddens among the Hebrews wherein if a man beyond his own control and will is forced to perform, he is supposed to allow himself to be killed. No man should kiss the wife of another unless he desires to be slaughtered afterwards."

Many other ministers acknowledged that they had abandoned kissing any more brides.

RAIL WORKERS PERMANENTLY ENJOINED

Chicago, July 12 (AP).—A final decree making permanent the temporary injunction obtained by the United States Government against the Railway Employes' Department of the American Federation of Labor, its officers and others, restraining them from interfering with the operation of railroads during the nation-wide shopmen's strike, was entered today by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

This most widespread restraining order ever obtained, affects approximately 400,000 railroad employes and officers of the shop crafts.

Theoretically, the strike still is in effect. The shopmen left their posts July 1, 1922, when the United States Railroad Labor Board ordered a cut in their wages. The strike continued actively for more than two months, during which, according to evidence introduced by the government, there was widespread assault and intimidation of strike-breakers. The men returned to work in September, leaving the question of seniority to a commission.

The railway employes' department of the Federation of Labor is now restrained permanently from interfering with the operations of the nation's carriers, as are its officers and those of other unions and brotherhoods concerned in the strike.

N. Y. BAR LEADER INDICTED IN JURY-BRIBING

New York, July 12 (I.N.S.)—United States marshals today sought William J. Fallon, one of New York's leading criminal lawyers, and Charles W. Rendigs, a cloak and suit manufacturer, and a former juror in the Federal Court, to arrest them on indictments charging jury-bribing.

The indictments were returned against Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee, members of the firm of E. M. Fuller & Company and now in jail on contempt charges; Charles H. Clarkson, "dummy" head of the Charles H. Clarkson & Company, brokerage firm, said to be owned by Fuller and McGee; John C. Feeley, publicity man for the brokers, and James Mimnaugh, member of the firm of Hedberg & Company, said to be an aid to the Clarkson Company in its alleged swindles.

The indictment charges that Fallon, an attorney in the trial of Durrell-Gregory & Company, Inc., accused of using the mails to defraud, paid Rendigs $15,00 on the day he was empanelled as a juror, later paying him $1000 more.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

The grand jury was told, it was said, that bribes had been offered jurors in the McGee-Fuller trial in which Rendigs also sat. Rendigs had denied this.

Fuller, McGee, Clarkson, Feeley and Mimnaugh are indicted on charges of using the United States mails to defraud.

FEELING BITTER IN CAMBRIDGE OVER "LEVER SQUARE"

MAYOR TO SOUND OUT CITIZENS

Plan to Honor English Soap Maker May Result in Public Meeting

By BERT FORD

mpest has been stirred in idge by the vote of the Council to rename a public re for an English lord. n of the fifteen members he council that passed the er by a rising vote are Irish-n.

Feeling is so bitter in certain arters that Mayor Quinn may be ced to call a public meeting be-re confirming or voting the order. the ten days allowed him by law, Mayor Quinn plans to sound public entiment.

In contrast to the gale of protests from local and State officers of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Irish societies, is the attitude of business firms in the vicinity of Mechanic square, which the council would change to Lever square in honor of Lord Leverhulme, head of one of the largest soap syndicates in the world.

PAYS $66,000 TAXES.

Lord Leverhulme's Cambridge factory, a modern brick structure, stands at the junction of Broadway and Hampshire streets in the heart of an industrial district. The firm is Lever Brothers Company. W. J. Whelan, an official of the company, petitioned the City Council on May 8 to change the name to Lever square. He called attention to the fact that the company has been doing business there twenty-five years; that it maintains a fine plant and pays $66,000 taxes to the city annually.

The order was defeated by a voice vote at a Council meeting on June , revived on motion of errill Griswold Tuesday. ncillor John J. McCarthy, ment, demanded a roll he members on record, motion and the order by count on a rising

T. Barrett, president of nell, who recently toured Ireland with his son, was in the chair. There were only five of the seven Irish-American members present.

Members of the American Legion pointed out today that an order to rename Mechanic square Zimmerman square, in memory of a Cambridge boy, killed in action overseas, was turned down by the Council.

PROTESTS POUR IN.

Protests continued to pour in today. Councillor McCarthy intends to introduce an order to have Mechanic square dedicated "to a World War hero, instead of a living British lord." Representative James Casey is circulating a petition on behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars opposing the change to Lever Square. State Commander William H. Doyle of the American Legion said the square should be dedicated to a gold star mother or a veteran instead of to a titled Englishman. "There is no excuse for naming American squares for living lords or dukes of England," said he.

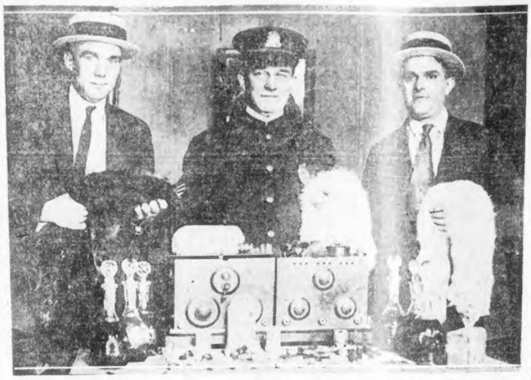
RICH LOOT IS RECOVERED



OFFICERS DISPLAYING VALUABLES FOUND IN YOUTH'S HOME

When the police searched the home of Joseph E. Walker at No. 32 Clarendon street, they found $5,000 worth of jewels alleged to have been stolen from the Bigelow-Kennard Company and valuable furs taken from the fur shop of Otto Piehler on Boylston street. Behind the table above are standing (left to right) Special Officer James O'Neill, who is holding a rich silver fox scarf; Sergeant John McDonald and Special Officer Louis Di Sessa, who are holding white fox scarfs, believed to have been stolen from the Piehler store. Walker, who is twenty-two, and Arthur E. Alden of the same age, are under arrest, charged with the thefts.

POLICE SEIZE 2 WITH $10,000 JEWEL LOOT

Two South End men, charged with looting the Washington street window of Bigelow, Kennard & Co. Inc., of $5,000 worth of jewels and with obtaining $5,000 more of gems from other places, were arrested by a squad of police.

Arthur E. Alden, 22 years old, of No. 136 West Newton street, South End, was seized as he alighted from a Providence train at the Back Bay Station.

Joseph E. Walker, 32 years old, was arrested at his home, No. 32 Clarendon street, South End.

Two watches and a pawn ticket for another watch were found in Alden's pocket.

Walker's home revealed a small sized jewelry shop. Besides jewels the police found a quantity of valuable furs and silks.

The arrest, according to the police, also cleared up the identity of the robbers who looted the fur shop of Otto Piehler, No. 336 Boylston street, three weeks ago. In Walker's home was found a sealskin coat and three other furs valued at $1275.

A string of pearls, eight watches and other jewelry taken from the Bigelow, Kennard & Co. window were found.

SPARKING IN PARKED AUTOS BRINGS PROTEST IN NAHANT

Sparking is one of the obnoxious features of parking of automobiles in Nahant, according to Fred A. Wilson, prominent townsman and library trustee and acting town moderator. Restrictions governing the parking of machines in Nahant have been made by members of the Board of Selectmen and Mr. Wilson, in defending the action of the board, issued a public statement.

"Automobiles are being utilized for the bathhouses and bedrooms," declared Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that prohibiting of picnics on public town parks was made to prevent uncleanliness. He contends that congestion caused by the parking of automobiles along Nahant road is dangerous to the town.

FRANK ARCHER says:

My associates in the Moxie bottle department report to me that we are in the greatest need of Three Hundred Thousand (300,000) cases of Moxie Empties in order to keep Moxieland humming, which we must do to take care of the enormous demand for Moxie. As it would require Three Thousand, Seven Hundred and Fifty (3,750) one-ton trucks to haul these bottles, we appreciate that we are asking you for quite some effort. However, you have never failed us, and we are sure you will not now.

The orders for Moxie are so great that we are obliged to apportion our daily output as equitably as possible.

If there is any delay in delivering Moxie we regret it exceedingly, but assure you that we are bending every energy to keep you supplied.

We thank you in advance for your cooperation in returning Moxie Empties.

"YOU ARE KILLING INNOCENT MAN," DECLARES PAUL PAPPAS

him that on the eve of the date set for his execution, their mother was of her boy.

Months ago, before there began the interminable mockery of false hopes which were dangled before the tired eyes of Pappas, he had written a farewell message to his mother and father on the island of Crete.

When Pappas was first sent to the death cell he showed a stability that the awed prison officials called nerve. It wasn't nerve. In that death cell, separated by thousands of miles from the Descalakis home in Crete he had a companion—the phantom presence of his mother.

Nobody knew that Paul Pappas had company in his cell of death. It was only last night that he confided it to Gregoris, his brother.

"She has been with me here every moment," he told his brother. "That is why I have been able to bear up so in the shadow of death.

"Now it doesn't matter at all.

"I do not dread the trip to the chair any more. I await it with joy. It is hard to write in a letter the things that are in your heart. I know that mother and I will meet, and then I can tell her everything."

Gregoris wept. But Paul smiled.

A letter from the father of Paul and Gregoris, written to Gregoris, told about the receipt of Paul's letter, written from the death cell. Paul had told of his arrest for the murder of Alice Arsenault in the shabby Columbus avenue rooming house on Christmas eve of 1919. He told of his arrest for the crime, his trial, his conviction. And he told his mother in that letter, written in the full belief that he would be dead when it arrived, that he was innocent.

The mother fainted when she received the letter, Paul's father wrote. For four hours she was unconscious. Doctors were called. They revived her and gave her medicine.

Then came the news that legal steps had been taken in behalf of her son. She had been failing steadily until that message came. The day the letter from Gregoris arrived, informing her that Paul had been taken out of the death cell into the sunlight he had thought he would never see again, the mother began to improve.

But the legal move failed, and Paul went back into the death cell.

Four times this happened. Four times Gregoris wrote letters of promise, to be followed by letters of doom. Each time a letter arrived telling that Paul was to have another chance, his mother took on new life and health.

PAUL PAPPAS

"I do not dread the trip to the chair any more," says the doomed slayer. "It means reunion with my mother." The mother died ten days ago from grief over the plight of her son.

Then came Gregoris' last letter, written a month ago.

The mother searched the lines frantically. In them she could read no promise of hope. She drooped, drooped, and ten days ago she died.

Her last words, Paul's father wrote to his son, Gregoris, were these:

"He is innocent."

HIS LAST WORDS.

And these will be the last words of Paul Pappas. Never for a moment has he faltered in his declaration of innocence.

When John P. Feeney, his counsel, pleaded with him for permission to ask for a commutation of the death sentence to one of imprisonment for life, Pappas told him:

"I am innocent. I want to be officially declared innocent and permitted to walk out of this cell a free man, or I want to take that ten-pace walk that will lead to the chair."

Yesterday the Governor and his Council met at the State House.

There was no word of hope after the meeting.

The Greek priest called, as he has called almost daily since, months ago, Paul took up his abode in that cell. He could bring no word of hope.

Then came Gregoris.

'MOTHER IS DEAD.'

"Here is the most remarkable part of it all," Gregoris said as he came out of the death cell. "When I entered the cell, Paul got up. After a moment, he said, 'Mother is dead, isn't she?' I looked at him amazed. Nobody knew of mother's death but myself. I asked him how he had learned. But he only smiled.

"I showed him the letter I had received from father. He read it. 'I knew before you came,' he said. 'Now it doesn't matter. Poor mother.'"

Today the prison clock steadily ticks away the life of Paul Pappas. He no longer waits with dread but with anticipation. Death now means not a farewell, but a reunion.

In his death cell today [illegible] alone.

Paul Pappas to Die at Midnight, Friday

Paul Pappas must pay with his life for the murder of Mrs. Alice Arsenault, Columbus avenue boarding house keeper, Friday at midnight.

Governor Cox refused to interfere in behalf of Pappas and announced there was no justification for his setting aside the verdict of the jury and the sentence of the court.

The Governor's answer was made in response to an appeal by Attorney John P. Feeney for executive clemency. The Governor did not refer Attorney Feeney's appeal for clemency to the Executive Council.

striking operators and the son of President McCarroll of the Springfield Central Labor Union.

In anticipation of disorder ten patrolmen were assigned to the telephone exchange. Twenty-five reserves responded to the first riot call when fully 2000 persons left the O'Connor meeting, rushed to the telephone exchange and circled around the building.

POLICE USE CLUBS.

Police with night sticks beat the mob back from the telephone building. Enraged at the interference of the police the mob offered determined resistance.

More serious trouble was probably averted when one lone policeman mounted an object in the street and shouted above the uproar, "In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the City of Springfield, disperse." Rioters fell to laughing, and for the time the police gained the upper hand.

The mass meeting was held in the open air on Court square. Miss O'Connor was the principal speaker.

At the end of the meeting, the most enthusiastic labor meeting in Springfield in years, nearly half of those present, almost as though by prearrangement, moved down Main street toward the telephone exchange at Worthington street, yelling and cheering as they went.

Mayors Invite Phone Strikers to Conference

Mayors of eight New England cities met in the office of Mayor Sullivan of Worcester and voted to ask officials of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company to submit the phone girls' claims to a board of arbitration and let the operators return to work.

"We have decided to invite to a conference with us at Providence Friday the parties to this dispute," the Mayors told the American. "We have asked representatives of the striking operators to meet us at noon, in the Providence City Hall, and representatives of the telephone company to meet us at 2 p. m. We are not asking the parties to this dispute to meet each other; we are asking them to meet us."

ried over her husband's failure to return home and informed her father-in-law of his disappearance.

The body was discovered soon after when the scow was being unloaded by a steam shovel at the company pier, Boardman street, East Boston.

The body was identified at the North Grove street Morgue by Artemus Wood and Artemus Wood, Jr., of No. 40 White place, Brookline, father and brother, respectively, of the dead man.

LAST SEEN AT WORK

Young Wood, investigation by the police revealed, was last seen at midnight, July 9, when he was at work loading the barge in which his body was found. At work with him was John Doyle. They were unloading refuse from a truck owned by Mrs. Doyle.

BRIDE ALARMED.

When Wood's wife of three months became alarmed at the failure of her young husband to appear, she went, together with the elder Wood, to the police and reported his disappearance.

The dead youth's father told the police he had questioned young Doyle in connection with his son's disappearance, but Doyle had been evasive in his answers. Doyle, the Wood's body was found by Samuel Stinecither, of No. 187 Saratoga street, East Boston, hoisting engineer, as a bucket of refuse was hoisted, revealing the legs of a man extending from the refuse in the barge.

Captain Hickey of the East Boston police and Medical Examiner Brickley started an investigation. They found that the chest of the man had been crushed. Medical Examiner Brickley declared the weight of the refuse was enough to crush the chest.

Mayor Curley, in his address, warmly championed the cause of Boston as a natural commercial centre.

An Unfailing Way to Banish Hairs Use Delatone

(Beauty Notes)

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you buy real delatone.

EXPERTS DENY THAT FLEAS TRANSMIT CANCER

FRENCH THEORY CONDEMNED BY BOSTON SPECIALISTS

By GRACE DESCHAMPS

Cancer cannot be transmitted either by fleas or any other agency.

The conclusion reached by Professor Henry Vincent, of Paris, that fleas transmit the unknown germ responsible for cancer, is without basis in fact.

The theory advanced, and said to have been proved, by the member of the French Academy of Science is "poppycock," "nonsense" and "rot," according to leading physicians and surgeons of Boston.

There is nothing to it. Medical men representing the Harvard Cancer Commission and heads of various hospitals throughout the city say so.

Professor Vincent, in a demonstration at the famous French academy, declared that cancer could be communicated from cancerous dogs to healthy ones simply by placing the fleas of one on the other. He added that he had found instances where healthy dogs belonging to cancerous women had developed the disease.

STATEMENT FLOUTED.

"In the entire history of research in cancer, ther is no basis for such a statement," contends Dr. Channing Simmons, secretary of the Harvard Cancer Commission. "In the first place, such a conclusion could only be reached in working upon the hypothesis that cancer was a bacteria disease and germ organisms were present.

"Cancer, so far as known, is not a bacteria disease. No one has ever yet offered any proof that bacteria were present in cancer. Years of intensive study have resulted only in the finding that cancer was the breaking down of cell tissue, presumably from irritation.

"Cancer has never been transmitted. It can be transplanted in animals, but even that cannot be done in humans. Healthy dogs have had cancer transplanted in abrasions and the disease has been developed successfully. No communication of the disease between animals in experiments has ever occurred.

"There is nothing to it," declares Dr. E. W. Wilson, assistant superintendent of the Boston City Hospital. "It is simply a startling statement not to be taken seriously. It is one of many such made frequently in the research of cancer and other malignant diseases.

"Cancer, it is true, appears to run in families. In that respect it is similar to tuberculosis. Tuberculosis appears in some cases to run in families and children of tubercular parents may be born with weakened lungs or frail bodies or a predisposition to the disease. However, a child may receive tuberculosis from his parents after he is born.

CANNOT BE INHERITED.

"So in cancer. A child of a cancerous parent may be born with possibly weakened cell tissue which lowers its resistance to the disease. Unlike tuberculosis, however, the child cannot inherit the disease from a parent so afflicted. It is a physical impossibility.

"No one yet knows the origin of cancer. The cells appear to break down from irritation. We find the pipe-stem frequently causing mouth cancer among men. The scratching of a mole sometimes appears to be responsible. The beginning of cancer is sometimes traceable to a blow to weakened tissue.

DIET IS BLAMED.

"The theory recently advanced that cancer was concerned with diet seems nearer the point. We frequently find cancer as an outgrowth of an ulcer of the stomach, the ulcer weakening the tissue. Whatever is responsible for the ulcer is indirectly responsible in that particular case for the cancer.

"But Professor Vincent has uncovered nothing. There is no basis for his statement."

MRS. ANNIE ICETON.

THOMAS BARRIE.

BOY ELOPER RUNS AWAY SECOND TIME

"I love Annie and I shall follow her no matter where she goes until I am able to marry her."

This declaration was made by Thomas Barrie, twenty years old, who has run away from home a second time, he says, to rejoin Mrs. Annie Iceton, thirty-two years old, who is said to have a husband and an eleven-year-old child in Halifax, N. S. A letter received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Barrie, of No. 102 Thornton street, Roxbury, revealed his love.

Thomas was found in a Bridgeport boarding house by the young man's mother and consented to return to Boston.

Barrie stayed in his parents' home only eight days when he again disappeared. The mother has asked the police to find him.

"He told me while he was home the last time he was persuaded to stay away by Mrs. Iceton," says the mother. "As he is young he really does not understand the position in which he placed himself and I fear that before this situation is settled something dreadful will happen.

"Mrs. Iceton has been, up to the time of this occurrence, a true friend of the family and I always thought well of her. She was a boarder in my home for three months."

An excerpt of the letter written by Thomas to his mother follows:

"Mother, I don't want to come home because I can get along better away. I love Annie a terrible lot. I don't care if Annie is compelled to return to Halifax. I'll follow her."

Jilting Drives London Man to Suicide

London, July 12.—A broken heart caused the suicide of A. P. Bowes-Lyon, cousin of the Duchess of York, the inquest at Woking revealed.

Miss Muriel Parsons, daughter of the late Sir Charles Parsons, had sent for Bowes-Lyons and told him their engagement must be broken off. He had no other troubles.

MARLBORO POLICE SEEK MISSING GIRL

Marlboro, July 12.—Police of nearby cities have been asked to search for Ann Condon, sixteen years old, who has been missing from her home for three days. Her parents believe she left Marlboro with a circus that recently played here.

VACATION FUND OF 50 GIRLS MISSING

Pawtucket, July 12.—The simultaneous disappearance of Arthur Faubert, thirty-eight years old, a department overseer in the J. & P. Coates Co., and $1,240 of vacation funds entrusted to him by fifty girl employes of the company has resulted in an unofficial search.

Faubert is believed to be in New York. A postal card from New York, but bearing no street address, was received by Faubert's wife, with whom he lived until two weeks ago.

None of the money entrusted to Faubert is on deposit in the Slater Trust Company, where it was supposed to be. According to bank officials, Faubert deposited $400 in May, but withdrew it two weeks ago.

Faubert's father visited the factory and asked that legal action be withheld until he has communicated with Faubert and obtained an explanation of what has become of the funds.

The New Discovery Ends All Foot Troubles

Don't limp, swear, hump your shoulders nor suffer in silence with painful corns, callouses, bunions or with feet that just naturally tire quickly and hurt you. Just step into any Drug Store and get a jar of cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and the moment it touches those poor, tired, aching feet you will just sigh with relief. Real foot comfort, quick and sure.

Ice-Mint is a snow-white creamy preparation that comes from Japan. You just rub it on like cold cream. Ah! how good your shoes feel and you can dance all night or walk all day and your feet won't hurt a bit. Think of it, only a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. It actually makes a pair of tired, swollen, corn-pestered, aching feet just glow with cooling comfort. Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high-heeled shoes and men who have to stand on their feet all day. Try it. "TOWN PILLAR" AND GIRL OF 15 ELOPE

Oneonta, N. Y., July 12.—Swept beyond all reason by some strange love affair, Miss Marjorie Rockwell, fifteen years old, a senior in the Cobleskill High School and prominent in church work and social affairs, and Earl Pearse, nearly fifty, prominent business man and married, have eloped.

They left behind them no trace save a few scribbled lines penned by the girl telling her mother she would never return.

With police search failing, C. F. Rockwell, grandfather of the girl, has offered [illegible] reward for information leading to the arrest of Pearse and the return of Marjorie. Cobleskill residents will offer a purse for the solution of the mystery.

Mrs. Pearl Rockwell, mother of the missing girl, is in a state of collapse and Mrs. Pearse is prostrated. It is suspected the elopers have started for California in Pearse's roadster.

The elopement is the climax of a mysterious romance. Marjorie was one of the most winsome and most popular girls in the high school. Pearse was regarded as one of the pillars of the town.

NEVER THE TWAIN SHALL MEET

A Novel by Peter B. Kyne

It was a song that never before had been sung, once sung, never again would it be heard. Such a song, indeed, as little girls croon to their dolls; half funeral chant, half hymn, sung in a minor key by a girl with a powerfully sweet lyric soprano. The last of the land breeze carried it aft to Gaston Larrieau, the master of the 200-ton auxiliary training schooner Moorea, where he stood on the top step of the companion, his leonine head and tremendous shoulders showing above the deck house, as he smoked his first after-breakfast pipe.

While he listened, a shadow passed over the man's [illegible]e as when winds drive a dark cloud above a sunny plain.

"Never The Twain Shall Meet"

They said of PETER B. KYNE: "He writes of men, for men—that's why women love his stories."

They said he couldn't write about women.

And now he has written a novel of the love of two women for one man: a story of Tamea, exotic pagan from the South Seas, and Maisie, cultured woman of the world, and their contest for the affection of Dan Pritchard, a business man with a longing for adventure.

IRVIN S. COBB from his experience as a "star" reporter, has written a gripping story in "The Value of a Good Name." There were only six letters in that name but they saved a woman from the electric chair.

SMYTH RENOUNCES "BOGUS BOHEMIA"

PLEADS GUILTY TO MARRYING AND BIDS VILLAGE GOOD BYE

By J. HILTON SMYTH

The Boston American has forced from me the admission that I am married. I plead guilty to the accusation with all the return to conventionality that it implies.

Bohemianism, so various philosophers inform us, is a state of mind. I would add that it is invariably a state of financial embarrassment. Money may be the root of all evil, but how Bohemians do love evil!

There is a definite freedom in matters amorous, pecuniary, and epicurean that is intriguing. There is a verse from the Village that is apt:

"Way down South in Greenwich village,
There they wear no fancy frillage,
For they all wear smocks and bob their hair.
There it's nothing shocking
To wear stencils for a stocking,
For it saves the wash in Washington Square."

As for the Beacon Hill Bohemia of Boston I am done with it. I have followed every devious twist and turn of its pathway. The true road of Bohemia, according to Henri Murger, leads to one of three places: the morgue, the hospital or to the academy.

SANITARIUM OR DIVORCE.

The false Bohemia of Boston leads only to the sanitarium or the divorce court, or to infamous notoriety. No artist's model out of Beacon Hill was ever so ignorant of financial matters that she did not know how properly to indorse an alimony check.

There was once a Bohemia in Boston—in the old days of the Golden Rooster on Carver street. There was once a time when art was discussed, when Russian tea rather than rotten gin was served.

Then it was:

Set down in a dim and dusty street,
A haven sequestered where artists meet,
Dreamers and poets with visioned eyes,
Dreaming of unachieved emprize.

The dirty, sordid street below
Becomes a memory.
The drone of passersby below
Becomes a harmony,
And in the mind the canvas glows
Perfect the poem grows.

Then thru the haze
Of the flickering candle's golden rays
Visions of fulfilled desire
For a fleeting moment are seen—then lost!

Bohemia changed gradually when the Golden Rooster moved to Beacon Hill. It could best be described in the free verse that was in vogue at that period.

Walls of painted figures,
Ceilings of scaling black.
Old maids and half-burned candles
Sputtering . . .
Both seem to lack
Something.
Misunderstood daughters
With slender, silken legs
And scrawny necks,
Choking over cigarettes.
An artist—long haired—thin faced,
Dreaming of unpainted masterpieces
And drawing
An ankle—well displayed.
A flickering candle shooting beams of gold
Across a pool of tea on the table top,
Like golden notes
Dripping from a mandolin.
A sop
Thrown to the blind.

The Golden Rooster was raided and closed., the walls of painted figures became covered with dust. The old maids acquired a new set of Freudian repressions, and the candles sputtered on in other tea rooms. The misunderstood daughters became misunderstood wives. The artist turned out to be a sign painter.

NEEDS PUBLICITY.

The false Bohemia thrives on publicity—without it it could not exist. It has constantly before it the remembrance that, while Jonah's whale had a streak of luck and pulled in one customer without publicity—it could not hold the trade.

And so there is plenty in the way of publicity—in studio balls, Bohemian revels. There is a motto on every wall:

"Who loves not women, wine and song,
He is a fool his whole life long."

I am through with the false Bohemia of stultiloquent meretriciousness. From the outside the tea houses look the same as ever—but they have changed. They are still set down in a dim and dusky street, and they are still havens sequestered where artists meet. But artists—in what? In self-[illegible] invention.

I place my thumb on my nose, waggle my four fingers and bid goodbye to Boston's bogus Bohemia.

I have committed the unpardonable sin. I have married! I have rejoined the ranks of the conventional.

I shall arise in the morning, rather than the afternoon.

FOUND WIFE THERE.

I shall live in the suburbs, and have a garden and watch the radishes grow where I planted lettuce.

I can say but one thing in favor of Boston's Bohemia—I found my wife there.

I bid goodbye to the Easter Eggs of the Village [illegible]. Those flappers that are hard boiled with a hand painted exterior.

I bid goodbye to the sappy youths from the colleges that haunt the Hill to have a good time for nothing, [illegible] the incense and the lap dogs.

It is a serious thing to be married, but as the young flapper says, it's much more serious not to be.

STATE LOAFERS CALLED TO TASK BY T. W. WHITE

State employes who soldier on the job and who take the doctor's certificates to obtain vacations for feigned illness were given a verbal [illegible] by Thomas W. White, state commissioner of personnel.

White also made a slam-bang at [illegible] the tender-hearted State officials who close their departments and grant their employes a leave [illegible] "because of [illegible]."

"There are too [illegible]," White declared. "There are too many employes who take illness in order to get a holiday off.

"The state employs these people to work. It expects a full day from them. Department heads have no more right to grant their employes a leave of absence on a hot day without compelling them to make up the lost time than they have to dip their hands into the pockets of their neighbors. Hereafter, when employes are granted time off, the officials will be required to force them to make it up by extra work."

White has backed up his statement by sending an order to State department heads which contains the following statement:

"Allowance of leaves with compensation amounts to a gift of money from the Treasury of the Commonwealth for services not rendered and is not permitted."

"A man doesn't have to be much of an authority on driving a car to know that it's a heap-sight better to be careful than to wish afterwards that you had been. Carelessness, not recklessness, causes most of the accidents."
(The Traffic Officer)

Says the Veteran Motorist:

"I WANT to say right here that the attitude most motorists have toward the traffic officer is absolutely wrong. The majority of drivers imagine that he is always out to get them. Nothing of the sort.

"His job is to keep the highways safe for everybody. He's out to keep you from endangering the lives and limbs of others. And he's out just as hard and just as long to keep the other fellow from banging you up. He may call you down one minute and then save you a nasty smash-up at the hands of some novice or dare-devil just behind you.

"One of the best scouts I ever met is a traffic officer and a few incidents that he and others have told me make me feel like taking my hat off to the whole bunch of them. If you want my honest opinion of it, I think it's a wonder that they manage to keep so courteous, considerate and fair—considering what they have to put up with day in and day out."

Why Monsieur Vivaudou invests $24,000 in a single advertisement

REPRODUCED here is the largest advertisement of Toiletries that has ever been published! Largest in space (seven hundred and ten square inches), largest in cost and largest in number of readers (approximately 18,000,000).

And Monsieur Vivaudou, exceptionally shrewd as a buyer of advertising, has based his expenditure on precedent and past experience, and has placed this twenty-four thousand dollar advertisement in The American Weekly.

In 1922, Monsieur Vivaudou used color pages in The American Weekly, with copy that demanded direct returns—and he got them—more for each dollar spent in The American Weekly than from any other medium.

And Monsieur Vivaudou has come back for more!

The American Weekly is again the back-bone for his nation-wide campaign.

4,400,000 families buy The American Weekly every week, and more than 18,000,000 people read it and buy from it.

Monsieur Vivaudou's advertisement in The American Weekly was read by more than 25% of all the English reading people in the United States.

Monsieur Vivaudou knows this, and he knows that there is no other medium in the world that can give him this tremendous circulation for the low rate of Seven Dollars a line, and he has profited by his experience—and his results.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.

FLAMING YOUTH ❧ By WARNER FABIAN

The Great Reform Novel of the Year, Baring Innermost Secrets of Luxury-Loving Class

Intimately Revealing the Life of a Modern and Precocious Society Flapper

START THIS BIG, NEW STORY TODAY

Mona Fentriss, young, beautiful and the wife of a consulting engineer, has been told by her physician, Bob Osterhout, who is in love with her, that she has only a short time to live. Mona gives a gay party, telling Pat to go to bed, but the latter borrows a sister's dress, steals downstairs and has "a taste of life." Connie goes to a dance at the club and takes too much punch. She is brought home by Fred Browning, with whom she had uneventfully spent the night. Sel Thorpe gives Pat a "real" kiss. Mona dies and Constance receives a call from Cary Scott, her mother's first admirer. Scott is much taken with Pat. A party is planned for the Dangerfields to christen the new swimming pool. A thunder storm puts out the lights and the guests go into the water without clothes. Dee modestly hesitates on the balcony and then—the lights came on, revealing her in a blinding glare. One of the bathers is saved from drowning by Cary Scott. Pat and Cary Scott become interested in each other. Pat returns from school and declares she is "out for trouble" this time. Scott and Pat confess their love and Scott, whose wife is living, says good-by to her. Pat pretends to Dr. Osterhout that she is about to have a baby. He asks her to marry him. Then she admits she has tricked him and that it is Dee who wants his aid.

NOW GO ON WITH THIS ENTHRALLING STORY.

"Don't be cross with me," said Pat

"I[illegible] never been over. Not for a single minute," said Pat.

"Have you wanted me so much?" Beneath the conscious coquetry there was a more wistful note.

"Oh, God, Pat!" His voice sounded thick and rough. "There has been no color or savour, no music or fragrance in life without you."

"Why did you go away?" she de[illegible]

[illegible] all right, Katie." Then to Scott: "Aren't you com[illegible] ed impatiently. "Oh, don't be such a crab!" he followed her.

[illegible] sort of [illegible]."

She bounded upstairs [illegible] glass. Her eyes were brilliant, heavy-lidded, dreamy. She shook [illegible] she kicked from her feet and le[illegible] lying on the floor, tossed her cor[illegible] ding it to the boyish set of her shoulders and the wet at s depth [illegible]

[illegible] the scorching brought an angry "Damn!" of pain. She threw the cigarette after the expiring match. No, she wouldn't smoke, much as her tense nerves demanded it. She would keep her mouth fresh and sweet for Cary's first kiss.

She ran down to him, putting on the far light in the hallway, so that only a dim glow invaded the conservatory den. Scott stood at [illegible] tion.

"What are you doing?" she asked.

"Listening."

"Music! A violin. Oh, I know. It's a [illegible] at the Eastman's, next door. [illegible] good. And how flawless of him to be playing just now. Open the window [illegible] hear it all."

He obeyed. She drew [illegible] Her ready fingers [illegible]

"Want me to mix [illegible]

[illegible] approved [illegible] they said not get a call-down. What is it he's playing?"

"'The Elegie.'"

The violin was sobbing, panting, pleading like a woman in sweet [illegible] to them until the whole room was surcharged with the passion and grief of it.

Pat lifted Scott's hand, cuddled it to her cheek, flipped it away care[illegible] gleam like the far reflection [illegible]

[illegible] "Oh, Cary!" she breathed, in [illegible] with the resistless pleading [illegible] music. And again, "Oh, Cary!"

Her arms yearned out to him drawing him through the dimness. With a cry he leapt to her clasped [illegible] lissome grace yield to his enfoldment. Through her sundered lips he drew the wine of her breath deep, deep into his veins, until all his self was merged and lost in her [illegible]

The strain died. Was it after a minute, or an hour, or a night [illegible]

[illegible]

"Oh, God!" he said. "Pat. Little Pat!"

She came to him then, spread her gracious arms [illegible] the [illegible] him, claimed his soul with her lips.

"I'm not sorry!" she panted. "I'm not! I'm glad! I'm glad!"

American Colony in London Increasing in Numbers, Reports Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

MR. AND MRS. I. TUCKER BURR of Marlboro street, together with Mrs. Amory A. Lawrence of Commonwealth avenue, have taken a house in London for the month of July. Which reminds one that the American colony at the British capital is steadily on the increase.

The house which the Burrs and Mrs. Lawrence have taken is known as the [illegible] Country manor, and is said to have quite an interesting history. Mrs. Burr (Alice Peters), who is one of Boston's stateliest and most attractive matrons, is a painter of [illegible] ability, though she is the acme of modesty as regards her artistic accomplishments.

Miss Barbara Burr, the daughter of the I. Tucker Burrs, is rarely seen in the Hub these days, spending most of her time either in Gotham or abroad. At present I believe she is in Paris.

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

WEDDING anniversaries are wonderful things, but people are getting married so often nowadays that it's hard to remember what wedding you're celebrating.

IT'S hard enough for some men to remember the names of the women they marry let alone thinking of the date.

IF a man can possibly stick to the first woman he marries, it will save him a lot of book-keeping.

THE average husband knows when it's his wedding anniversary, but he usually sends the present to the wrong wife.

HE marries his wives in rotation so he ought to send the gifts the same way.

NO ex-wife wants her former husband to give her a coffee percolator when it's her turn to get an automobile.

THE most discouraging experience in the world is for a married woman to discover that she has just helped her husband celebrate his last wife's wedding anniversary.

OF course, a lot of couples don't have wedding anniversaries. You've got to be married at least a year before you're entitled to one.

HOWEVER, some couples stay together all their life because they're too lazy to get a divorce.

ONE woman wanted a separation from her husband, but she didn't have time to go to court.

SHE said she never got her housework finished until five o'clock in the afternoon.

SHE told her husband to go and get it for her, but he could never remember what she sent him after.

THE first time she sent him for it he went to the city hall and came home with a hunting license and a fishing permit.

HE could never remember their wedding anniversary. Once she said to him, "This is the 10th of July, Henry, don't you know what you should do today?" He said, "Sure, I've got to pay the premium on my accident insurance."

SHE bawled him out so that for the last five years he's brought her a box of candy every night just to be on the safe side.

HE'D rather take a box of candy to her at home than have her bring a bunch of flowers out to his grave.

THERE'S nothing that helps you to remember your wedding anniversary, but your wife's lawyer never lets you forget the day you were divorced.

TREAT YOUR STENOGRAPHER WITH RESPECT.

Mr. Business Man, how do you treat your stenographer?

Do you look on her as a piece of furniture, or do you show her the respect you would like to have shown your own daughter or sister?

Do you swear and curse when women are around? Of course not, but the stenographer seems different to you.

Your stenographer is paid to keep her mouth shut and take orders.

If you have to worry about what she thinks of your language you might as well go out of business, is that what you think?

Well, the girl employed by you is honest and honorable, and she has to make a living, or she would not be there, probably.

She is entitled to respect, and it would not hurt you to realize that you should be a gentleman, even among men, and why not before the stenographer?

You would not swear and talk in an obnoxious way before the women whom you meet socially.

Then be as considerate of the girl who works for you, and the chances are that you will get better work out of her at that.

New York Stock Market Is Dull But with Good Tone and Rails Leading

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

By B. C. FORBES.

From the one man in America best able to judge, I have just received a telegram saying that there is every prospect that the coal mine owners and workers now in conference at Atlantic City will reach an agreement and avoid a strike when their existing contract ends on September 1.

This is encouraging news. It will be well for both sides if they settle their differences. Both owners and miners ought to realize that the public is sick and tired of their constant quarreling and periodical strikes, which mean freezing homes for many and excessive coal prices for all.

The coal commission appointed by President Harding briefly proposed to clip the wings of the anthracite interests, both the controllers of mines and the controllers of coal-carrying railroads.

Also the workers are to be taught that they are engaged in an industry "affected by a public interest," and that, therefore, they have obligations and responsibilities to the public which lots of other classes of workers do not have.

* * *

Frankly, the anthracite coal people have brought their troubles upon their own heads. In the days of "the public be damned" anthracite giants flouted the public, and, unlike the leaders in most other industries, they have never learned the necessity for adopting more modern, more democratic, more open-and-above-board practices. Their stand always has been that it was none of the public's business what they did, that they were capable of managing their own affairs and were determined to brook no interference.

For example, they once pounced upon me, through their association, for criticising them, and declared vehemently that they could not afford to lower prices one cent. When I asked them if they were prepared to show their books to prove this, their representative said he would take the matter up and let me know. The reply, as I well knew, was that the mine owners preferred to keep their profits a secret.

Secrecy is out of date in industries entrusted with the utilization of vitally important national resources. As the coal commission well says:

"The fundamental fact in the anthracite coal problem is that heretofore these limited and exhaustible natural deposits have been in the absolute private possession of their legal owners, to be developed or withheld at will, to be leased for such royalties as could be exacted, to be transported and distributed at such rates and in such manner as a double-headed railroad and coal combination might find most advantageous from the point of view of private profit, to be sold at such prices as could be maintained by the restriction of output and the elimination of independent competitors, through such means as the maintenance of freight rates burdensome except to those who, owning both mines and railroads, could afford to be indifferent as to whether their revenue came from the one source or the other."

"Coal is quite as much a public necessity as [illegible] railway service, or any other service or commodity that has been brought under public regulation. There should be no secrets from the public in regard to mining costs, profits, salaries, wages, or corporate relations. The guiding principle in such enterprises is no longer maximum profit to owners but maximum service to the public. The time has certainly come to establish the same controlling idea in the anthracite coal industry."

* * *

The leaders of the anthracite industry may thank their stars that the commissioners appointed by President Harding were such level-headed men. The public has become so disgusted with the handling of the whole anthracite industry that very strong demand for outright government ownership of operation has been developing. Having abused their powers, the public had begun to demand that the mine owners be stripped of their powers completely.

* * *

One question the public is asking insistently is: "Will coal prices be lower?"

A careful reading of the coal commission report justifies hopes that this will be brought about, if not in the immediate future, then by next Winter.

"The item of freight alone in the examples cited takes from sixteen cents to thirty cents of the consumer's dollar," says the report. It adds: "As so large a part of the consumer's dollar goes as freight charges, a material reduction in the price of coal can come through a reduction of freight rates. The coal commission urges upon the interstate commerce commission a re-examination of the reasonableness of anthracite freight rates."

Here would appear to be ground for hope, here, would there not?

WHEAT STILL UNDER DOLLAR IN CHICAGO

Chicago, July 12.—Grains were lower today and there were indications that the pit was in for another day of weakness. Good weather reports from the wheat belt and virtual passing of all danger from black rust were depressing factors. July wheat sold at 99½ to 99¼, September 99⅝ to 99¼, December 102½ to 102⅝. Corn—July broke a full cent to 82¼, but rose to 83 within a few minutes. September was slightly higher at 76 to 76, while December sagged to 62½ to 62⅝. Oats—September 34½ to 34¾.

PRICES REACT IN COTTON FUTURES

New York, July 12.—Reactionary tendencies were noted in the cotton market today with prices yielding from 2 to 11 points. Pressure was especially noticeable in the new crop months, due to poor Liverpool cables and favorable weather in the belt. July sold at $[illegible] off 5, October at 22.60 off 11, December at 22.13 off 9 and January at 22.25 off 7.

STEEL TO REDUCE 12-HOUR WORKERS

It is understood that about 25 per cent of men employed in Steel Corporation's mills are on a 12-hour day. Corporation expects to decrease the number within 30 days and to proceed vigorously as labor increases in numbers.

WESTINGHOUSE BOOKINGS UP

Incoming orders of Westinghouse Electric for first quarter of fiscal year beginning April 1 totaled over $47,500,000. There was a decrease in June compared with the two previous months, but that it was seasonal is indicated by the fact that bookings so far in July are ahead of the same period in June.

July is expected to be better than June, the company having booked up to July 9 $8,000,000 against $3,000,000 for the same period in June. Included in July figures are several large turbine contracts.

Sales billed in first quarter were $36,564,000 against $26,713,000 in the first quarter of 1922. Billings also are expected to improve in the second quarter, since output is being constantly increased. First quarter bookings for 1922 were $32,119,000.

WHEAT AND FLOUR LOWEST SINCE WAR

Chicago, July 12.—Wheat and flour are at the lowest levels since before the World War. For the first time since 1914 wheat sold for less than $1 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade and at the same time Minneapolis millers put the price of family brands of flour in carload lots to $36 a barrel, the lowest since 1915. Brokers gave over-production and a general adjustment of grain values as fundamental causes. Economists generally admit that $1 wheat will not pay production costs.

FAKED INDORSEMENTS.

To G. A. W., Derne street.—Today's small investor can hardly be the big capitalist of tomorrow—unless he is first careful enough to insist upon verifying all the facts relating to an investment before he signs a contract or gives his check.

One stock and bond scheme calculated to mislead people who may fail to check up all the facts carefully before they invest, is the unauthorized use of names of reputable business leaders.

Sometimes the promoter goes so far as to quote prominent men he says are members of his advisory board or board of directors, or even officers of his company, when in fact these men do not even know of the existence of the company.

Such mis-statements are subject to legal prosecution, of course, but it is small satisfaction to the men whose money has been taken to learn that the untrustworthy vendor has been arrested, unless by chance the money can be returned—which doesn't often happen.

Invest your money, but take nothing for granted.

"BABSON SELLING" IN PRESENT MARKET

Windsor in Boston News Bureau says: "One feature of the present market is what the Street calls "Babson selling." A broker showed me this morning a selling order from the Far West covering 37 stocks—not more than 30 shares of any one, and ranging from three to seven shares in the majority of cases. Another broker told me of a $200,000 Boston account consisting entirely of odd lots. It seems that the Sage of Wellesley Hills advises diversification.

WOLVERINE AND MOHAWK PLAN MERGER

A merger of the Wolverine Mining Co. with the Mohawk Mining Co. is planned, according to legal notice published at Houghton, Mich.

Special meeting of Wolverine stockholders is called for August 14 to act on proposal to sell and convey all Wolverine property and assets to Mohawk for a consideration of 10,000 shares of Mohawk stock.

Mohawk capitalization is 100,000 shares and Wolverine 60,000. This would give Wolverine stockholders one share for six of Mohawk and involving, of course, an increase in Mohawk's capital.

The proposed merger is regarded as an effort on the part of the Gay estate interests to prolong the life of Wolverine. For a long time it has been rumored Wolverine was seeking other lands on the Kearsarge lode.

Transfer also will give Wolverine shareholders stock in a dividend-paying company while Wolverine has for years done little better than break even.

Boston Notes

Hood Rubber Co. declared quarterly dividend of $1.75 on preferred, payable August 1, stock of record July 20.

Sinclair Consolidated Oil declared quarterly dividends of 50 cents on common and $2 on preferred, common payable Aug. 31, stock of record Aug. 1, preferred Aug. 15, stock of record Aug. 1.

What Is Wrong With Famous Players

If you can purchase a stock upon which dividends of $8 a share are being paid annually, and feel reasonably assured concerning the permanence of these dividends, you would no doubt consider that you are acquiring a wonderful bargain. If, before buying such a stock, you investigated thoroughly, and found that during the entire existence of that stock the company had always earned its dividend by a very wide margin, and was still earning its present rate by a very safe and substantial margin, you would, in all likelihood, feel doubly assured that the stock was both a safe investment, and a mighty attractive speculation.

But perhaps you are of the very conservative and careful type of investors. You see, on the one hand, some very good earnings statements, a strong dividend record, and news which indicates good future prospects, yet the stock continues to decline to new low record levels, and, perhaps, you suspect that there might be a nigger in the woodpile. It is a good idea, therefore, to investigate further, to endeavor to learn whether or not there is something wrong.

An exhaustive analysis of this stock from this angle has just been prepared.

Women Fight for Jail Terms in Liquor Cases

The great disturbance among the violators of the prohibition law, caused by the jail sentences which Judge Morris of the United States District Court has been imposing, and which he announces he intends to impose, and the report of several Federal judges in other jurisdictions that they find it quite easy to suppress the liquor traffic by imposing vigorous sentences, has stirred the women of this Commonwealth to action.

They first manifested their interest in jail sentences by visiting Governor Cox, urging upon him the consideration of the uselessness of further fines and the necessity of more vigorous and severe punishment.

They are organizing throughout the State to rouse public opinion and to impress upon the courts and other law-enforcing officers that the time for experimenting with light fines has passed, and the hour for jail sentences has struck.

Women's local organizations and social clubs through their officers are interested in this campaign. Such organizations as the League of Women Voters, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the women's branch of the Citizen's Alliance, the Parent-Teachers' Association and various Chapters of the Daughters of the Revolution are represented in this State-wide crusade. Their agents are making a careful survey of the court records in these bootlegging cases and they report a startling condition of non-enforcement by the courts and prosecuting officers.

They believe that the light fines, which constitute a very small part of profit and loss in the bootlegger's business, is a temptation to violate the prohibition law rather than a deterrent.

Their agents are going from district to district, examining the records of the district and superior courts so that the people of the district and the judges and law-enforcing officers themselves may have a birdseye view of what has been done in the enforcement of law, or how little has been done to enforce it.

They began their first public display in a strategic square in the city of Malden last week, when they erected a banner which read as follows:

WAKE UP, MALDEN
Arrests for Drunkenness Increasing 1922
Is the Reason Why
Insufficient Penalties?
Only Two Bootleggers Fined Over $100
Only One Went to Jail in 1922
IF WE WANT
PROHIBITION THAT PROHIBITS
WE MUST GET PUNISHMENTS THAT PUNISH

They have erected banners in Everett, Medford, Melrose and Wakefield. They showed on their banner that only two bootleggers in the entire year were actually sent to jail, although there were 74 arrests for violation of the law and 49 convictions. Of those who were punished, only four paid a fine of over $100, while the profits of the bootleggers often exceed $100 in a single morning.

The women are going throughout the State raising these banners and telling the people and the courts why the enforcement of the law has not been as complete a success as it ought to have been.

These banners will be raised in all the large cities and towns. In each locality the representatives of the State organizations will seek the aid of local women's clubs.

Thus the women propose that the citizens shall understand that while the law is the law, it must be respected.

Make War Expensive

That's the Way to Cure Vice

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

One gentleman competing for the Bok peace prize suggests that the United States cancel Europe's debts. This he thinks would help peace.

It would, on the contrary, help WAR, since Europe would have that much more to spend on fighting supplies.

The British are wiser; they know the value of a club. The French are agitated because Britain, trying to force common sense on the French in the Ruhr, suggests that France might do well to pay her debt to England.

The English know that they probably won't GET the money, but they propose to hold the debt as a club. That is the way to make a debt useful in peace. Forgiving it would make things worse.

Forgive a gambler his debt and he gambles. Forgive a fighting nation its debt and it will fight all the more.

The way to discourage all kinds of vice, including war, as the old poker player said when he raised the pot, is "to make it expensive." Make them PAY for their fighting, and they will think twice before fighting again.

Germany, for instance, has learned that war is expensive. On Thursday last, for the first time, the mark went to five ten-thousandths of a cent. Before the war one million marks were worth $238,000. Last Thursday a million marks were worth $5. That tells the story. Some other countries must have the same lesson before they get even partially cured of war.

The worst possible thing would be to FORGIVE any war debt or do anything that would make war less expensive than it is for those that engage in it.

The Pastoral Kiss

The pastoral kiss had a celebrated example in the famous suit for alienation of affections against Henry Ward Beecher.

Husbands do not like to have their wives kissed pastorally or otherwise.

The clergyman may think he is ministering a paternal caress, but since the husband is never sure, it would be well for the clergyman to devise some other form of manifesting spiritual paternalism which will not make husbands so uneasy.

RUNNERS ON AIRPLANE FOR NORTH

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Sled runners affixed to the T-2, United States army airplane, may make possible a successful penetration into Arctic regions this year, according to information given out by the War Department. It is understood that the suggestion of runners comes from a Canadian source.

The airplane would be expected to negotiate great distances on level stretches of ice and snow. Ice blocks, it is pointed out, are often ten miles across. It would be necessary to guard carefully against running into floes.

Condition of Dudley Street

Office of the Mayor, City Hall.
Editor Boston American:

My attention has been directed to the article appearing in your paper on Saturday last and also today with reference to the condition of Dudley street.

I have communicated with the Commissioner of Public Works and beg to present the facts in the case. The city of Boston, in conformity with a mandate of the Finance Commission, has made it a practice to award contracts to the lowest bidders.

The contract for Dudley street was awarded to the Holbrook Construction Company, whose bid was so low as to make it impossible for them to complete the work at the price submitted. The Holbrook Construction Company becoming bankrupt as a consequence of this and other contracts, it became necessary for the bonding company to complete the work. The bonding company refused to agree to an award being made by the Commissioner of Public Works at a price and as a consequence it was necessary to re-advertise the work. The successful bidder on the work as re-advertised has this day been instructed that unless he proceeds to complete the work without further delay and inconvenience and danger to the public that his contract will be cancelled and the work transferred to some other reputable contractor.

I beg you will accept, in conclusion, my sincere thanks for directing public attention to the fallacy of awarding a contract to the lowest bidder unless the low bidder is responsible and the character of his work has been satisfactory to the officials of the city.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Inclose Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

No Money for Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am twenty-three, the mother of three girls, four, two and six months. My husband has been put in the House of Correction for four months for failure to support me and the children. While he is away, I get three dollars a week from the State and a five-dollar grocery order from the city. The three dollars pays for the rent, so I have nothing to buy clothes. What they are wearing now was given them by the neighbors. Is there anyone who could help me. They wear shoes size seven and four. Hope I have not asked too much.

MRS. M. T.

For Girl of Ten

Editor Helping Hand:

I have some dresses for a poor girl ten years old, which I will send. MRS. J. E. P.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. J. L., who is a widow with three children, one a girl of ten.

Wants to Adopt Baby

Editor Helping Hand:

I have sent prepaid parcels to the three addresses you sent me. I have two pairs of corsets, one pair size 28 and one size 26, and also a pair of maternity corsets size 28. They are almost new. I would like to adopt a baby girl from one year to four years. I could give her a good home and an education. We have only one child of our own, and can give a little one the best care.

MRS. D. McK.

Many thanks for all you are doing. The corsets will be held for reply, and we will let you know if any answers to your request for a little girl to adopt.

Clothes for Children

Editor Helping Hand:

I have clothes to fit a fourteen-year-old girl, thirteen-year-old boy and a four-year-old boy.

MRS. S. L.

You have been sent the address of Mrs. B. R. M., who has seven children in need of clothes. Thank you.

Food and Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I have been reading your column and think you are doing fine work. I also have a new bottle of baby food if someone would like it. I have two pairs of shoes, sizes three and three and a half, and some clothes suitable for a girl of fifteen or sixteen. Would you kindly send me an address for these?

MRS. A. C. B.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. M. W., who will be very grateful for the shoes and clothing. The food will be held for replies.

Requests and Offers

Editor Helping Hand:

I wish to thank the people who sent me magazines. I have a few things that I would like some needy and deserving people to have. They are: one pair girl's rubber boots, size 8 and very unusual; one pair child's rubbers, size 3, and one pair of women's pumps, size 4, of medium width. All are almost new. As I use beads of all kinds in my home work, I am wondering if through your column I could ask for some.

M. A. B.

M. A. B. is the disabled ex-service man who asked for magazines a while ago.

Needs House Dresses

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if there is any reader that would have any old house-dresses or aprons, as I am to have a baby in the Fall, and have only one skirt to wear and it is too small for me. I would take a size 40. The doctor has ordered me to wear a C. C. stocking as I have a very bad leg. They are afraid the veins will burst, and I cannot afford to buy one, as my husband was sick last Winter and unable to work.

MRS. C. H. P.

F. H. Offers More

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me the address of someone who needs the following clothes: five Summer skirts about 30 waist, three wash dresses size 38, lady's Summer coat size 40, twelve men's soft collars size 15½, two pairs of men's shoes size nine, one pair lady's brown shoes size 5C, one lady's black straw hat. F. H.

Glad to hear from you again. You have been sent the address of Mrs. H. F. P., who will be grateful for all but the shoes and collars, which will be held for replies. Thank you for all you are doing.

Mother of 7 In Need

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a mother of seven children—the baby very much in need of clothes of all kinds and the little girl, too, in need of shoes and a coat. She can wear nothing but a welt shoe size 5½, as her ankles are very weak. She has been barefoot two weeks. I also have a little boy five, one nine, and girls, four, seven and fourteen. The little girl, seven, needs dresses and they need nightdresses. I have been cooking for the children's support. My husband drank so I had to leave him and am supposed to get the children's board from him, but he does not work. I have been cooking for a home bakery, but have been sick three weeks with a nervous breakdown. Anything anyone could do for these children, no matter how small the gift, would be appreciated.

MRS. I. B. F.

Family in Need

Editor Helping Hand:

I hope you will forgive me for asking this favor of you, but my two boys, age 11 and 13, are badly off for pants and blouses and I need shoes so that I can go back and forth to work. My husband has been out of work because of a strike. He loafed eight weeks, but is working now. It has left us very deeply in debt. I wear size 44 or 46, and size seven wide, in shoes.

MRS. G. E. P.

NEVER DREAMED OF BILLION DOLLAR CROP INCREASES

By Herbert Kaufman

IN 1842 Messrs. Chambers of Edinburgh predicted that, "As those splendid projects in which the Americans are so fond of indulging approach realization, the quantities of new lands will be daily growing less, the rapidity with which capital now accumulates will be diminished in the same proportion, and as the nation becomes greater and more powerful, in the same degree will the resources of its population be lessened.

"These fancies, expressing the rapid increase of population, and the filling of the whole American continent with a nation of unparalleled power, are mere playthings of the imagination."

At that particular moment the entire United States debt was $21,000.

Today we carry unpaid foreign loans exceeding $11,000,000,000, and without even a financial limp.

The "exorbitant" annual wages of American labor, three times those of European craftsmen and often as high as $750 annually, were regarded as impossible of continuance.

Now cloth-spongers aren't even satisfied with fifty dollars a week and threaten to strike unless their pay is immediately increased at least 25 per cent.

The entire cost of running both State and Federal governments was less than $40,000,000 in 1837.

Benefactions of a single citizen like Mr. Rockefeller are frequently more in twelve months.

One private enterprise, the U. S. Steel Corporation, expands its assets a billion dollars' worth every decade. And Henry Ford, playing a lone hand, won't sell the business he has built from nothing, and in less than two decades, for a thousand million dollars.

The Stanton Bank & Trust Company of Great Falls, Montana, closed because of indiscreet loans for the Dempsey-Gibbons bout, shows resources of $1,774,000, and Great Falls doesn't begin to be a punctuation point in national development.

Other Playthings of Imagination

Among other "playthings of imagination," we direct attentioin to a billion-dollar gain in crop values for 1923—an advance in agricultural earning power of $2,200,000,000 in two years.

Planters are about to pick 11,400,000 bales of cotton; 189,000,000 bushels of apples are ripening throughout our forty-eight States, and local tobacco plantations alone will harvest 1,425,000,000 pounds of leaf. President Van Burean could have paid all the overheads of his administration with the income from our present peanut yield.

J. P. Morgan used to say that anybody who sold America short would finally go broke. The Chambers Brothers were not his favorite authors.

The Rattler Changes Skin

Foster, Ruthenberg, Manley & Co. (our old friend, William Z., and his lieutenant, the convicted emissary of Moscow) — well-known manufacturers of monkeywrenches to throw in political works—have just designed a nice, little, red-handled model for use in the coming presidential election, which they expect to market widely under the pirated name of the Federated Farm-Labor Party.

Like German silver, which neither is silver nor made in Germany, the Federated Farm-Labor Party is an altogether different organization than the Farm-Labor Party or the American Federation of Labor, both of which repudiate its principles and purposes.

This ominous outfit is simply a hashup of Reds, I. W. W.'s, Syndicalists and Communists—a superradical trust, dominated by self-confessed anarchists and avowed opponents of every fundamental principle of democracy.

Don't be deceived by their protective coloring.

Rattlers are never so poisonous as when they change skins.

"Lord, They Know Not What They Do"

While Lieutenant Wesley Hague, U. S. N., is absent on duty, Reverend George Lyman Paine entertains his eight weeks' bride. They go auto-riding, and, pausing to admire a rural landscape, he pets the lady. Mr. Paine acknowledges one fatherly kiss—nothing more.

When last seen the reverend gentleman was massed in wet towels and redolent of arnica.

"The little wisp of nineteen years" didn't understand that ministerial osculation is a mark of benignity.

Hard-fisted young husbands are also apt to misinterpret such kindly gestures.

Traditions of the cloth are more nobly upheld by Dr. John H. Kerr. This frail, venerable Brooklyn clergyman discovers a gang of burglars in his home and battles with the ruffians until one of them cracks his skull with an axe.

Lying at death's door, he broadcasts a message of forgiveness to his probable murderers, and begs them to return and receive his assistance. "Lord, they know not what they do."

Justice Still Rules

The California Supreme Court upholds a judgment of $100,000 for alienation of affections against Mrs. Katharine Pingley, a seventy-year priestess of theosophy, whom rich old men are prone to honor with their fortunes.

Ninon D. l'Enclos exercised her irresistible wiles until ninety. Madame de Pompadour fascinated Louis to the end. Cleopatra was a very mature Circe when Anthony fell under her spell. "Innocent little wisps of nineteen" aren't to everyone's taste.

Be advised by the elder Weller and "beware of vidders," too.

Also be wary of leases. Manhattan landlords adopt a contract which rids them of every obligation except collecting rent. Stewart Brown, president of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, challenges the legality of several rulings adverse to investors' interests and insinuates that the statutes relating to the control of property are so obscure and involved that practically no judge or lawyer can interpret them.

The bench and the bar will correct a few of his notions as soon as an attempt is made to enforce the inequitable agreement on which he pins faith.

Anthracite operators surrender the twelve-hour-day, but refuse to grant 20 per cent. pay increases. William Hard doubts that Federal regulation of the industry is feasible, because of Kansas Industrial Court and Maynard case decisions.

If so, constitutional amendment is always available. Congress dares not deny the country release from coal shortage and coal profiteering.

Foster and oppressors to the contrary, justice still has the last say in these United States.
